

Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Monday 10 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Largely dry overnight, but showers arriving from the south later.

This Evening and Tonight:

Turning largely dry through the evening, with the odd isolated shower lingering along southern and western coasts. Clear spells develop overnight, before an area of more organised showers moves over southern areas by dawn. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tuesday:

Organised bands of showers will move northeast during the morning, followed by sunny spells and more scattered showers into the afternoon, these heavy and possibly thundery. Windy, especially near coasts. Maximum temperature 15 deg C (59 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:

Unsettled conditions with sunshine and showers throughout, with heavy, possibly thundery, outbreaks for later on Wednesday and early Thursday, especially further east. Warm enough in the sunshine and mostly frost-free.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.